

WOMAN GIVEN TO MAN AS HELPER IN LIFE'S TEAM WORK

Her Creation Emphasizes Necessity Of True
Companionship.

REV. BEERS BEGINS
TALKS TO WOMEN

Woman Has It In Her
Power To Make Or Break
Husband, He Says.

Rev. G. A. Beers of the Baptist church opened a series of talks to women at the mid-week service Wednesday night, using Eve, the first woman, as the character.

"Life is a great, mysterious, wonderful, many-sided affair," he began. "The older we grow and the more deeply we think and realize the vastness of it, the more we feel it takes a life time to find out how to live. Multitudes have said, 'If I had my life to live over I would live very differently.'"

"Solomon, surveying the life of worldliness, said, 'Vanity of vanities, all is vanity.' The apostle Paul, equipped with the power of living for God and others, exclaimed, 'For me to live is Christ.' So vital are our relations to God and our fellowmen that we need great wisdom, grace and devotion to hold us true.

True Companionship

"In the creation of woman, God emphasizes the necessity of true companionship in life. Adam, surrounded by all the created things, had no companionship. In the gift of womanhood, is the fullest expression of the tenderest and most vital companionship in the world.

"Many unfortunate marriages have resulted because the matter of real companionship has not been faithfully considered. Selfish and unworthy motives often prevail and the lives involved are marred if not wrecked. Homes are unhappy, divorces multiply.

"The great comradeship of life is here, divinely provided. A thorough, honest, honorable, unselfish search may find it and finding it, secure one of the great God-given treasures of life.

"Eve was given to Adam, woman to man, as helper. Here is the greatest and most important, 'team work' of life. Woman has it in her power to make or break her husband. Many is the time when a wife's insight, intuition and resourcefulness have helped to solve the problems and lift the load. Oft, too, the occasions where lack of training for which her mother was responsible, carelessness and extravagances have made home life unpleasant and the husband discouraged in his efforts to establish his home and get ahead."

"On the other hand there are multitudes of instances when the planning, saving, even sacrificing work of the Firemen answered their 33rd alarm in 32 days late Wednesday afternoon when they responded to a call from Franklin and Etna st., where a field had become ablaze from a bonfire started to burn rubbish and which soon got beyond control.

To date the fire department has answered more than half as many alarms since Jan. 1, as they did during the entire year of 1922.

Burglar Is Routed By Small Boy And His Faithful Dog

Cincinnati, May 3.—A small boy and a dog last night routed a burglar in the exclusive residential section of Mount Auburn, a suburb, and sent the intruder away so swiftly that he lost his loot.

"Rex," a half-breed collie, and his 10-year-old master, Edward Doering, found the burglar ransacking the house. The lad's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Doering, were in a front room at their home, when the intruder was at work in the rear.

The boy "sicked" the dog on the robber, meanwhile making enough noise to sound like a man, or as near it as his 19 years permitted. The burglar dived through a window.

FATHER MANNING REFUTES CHARGES ABOUT CATHOLICS

Declares Mexicans Haven't Been Kept In Ignorance
By The Church.

Editor Salem News:

Please allow me space in your paper to present some facts in refutation of a statement in your issue of April 30, by Miss Harriet L. Ayres, of Mexico City, that "the need of missionary work in Latin countries is equally as great as in pagan countries, because of Catholicism which has kept the people in superstition and ignorance for the last four centuries."

The republic of Mexico has a population of about fifteen million people, and as the Encyclopedia Americana says all "but an inappreciable fraction of the inhabitants are Roman Catholics."

Kennedy's Catholic Directory (page 128-129) gives these facts: in the archdiocese of Mexico City (where Miss Ayres came from) there are 833 priests, 300 brothers (teachers) 1497 Catholic sisters (nurses) and 1500, 200 Catholic schools with 40,500 pupils, 12 high schools for boys with 3,600 pupils, 20 high schools for girls with 6,000 pupils, one seminary with 160 students for priesthood, 100 charitable institutions, and a Catholic population of 1,800,000 people.

Do these statistics look as though Catholicism were keeping the people in "ignorance and superstition." These are the figures for Mexico City alone. The figures for the diocese of Guadalajara show even greater centers of learning and activities for the betterment of mankind and the alleviation of suffering.

In fact, if Miss Ayres would only open her eyes she would find that the whole of the republic is dotted with thousands of Catholic churches, elementary schools, high schools, academies of arts and crafts, libraries, seminaries, colleges, hospitals, orphanages, all under very competent Catholic teachers, whose sole aim is to instruct and enlighten.

No sane person would say that a religious denomination would erect

RENEW HOSTILITIES AS KLAN INITIATES 860 CANDIDATES

Several Fights Staged As Klansmen Are Attacked
Following Meeting.

Middlebrush, N. J., May 3.—Hostilities between klansmen and anti-klansmen broke out again early today after the initiation of 860 into the mystic order on the Hobbs farm a mile from here, before a crowd of 10,000 klansmen and spectators.

Klansmen returning from the ceremonies to their homes were engaged in frequent brawls with opponents and several mass fights were reported in New Brunswick.

No casualties were reported to police, however, and they took no action.

The initiation itself passed without serious disturbance although a few revolver shots were heard during the night while the members of the mystic order were assembling.

A huge fiery cross, 75 feet high which functioned by means of oil-soaked burlap, was visible for miles about the countryside and attracted the gathering of thousands from all sides to the little two-acre farm where the altar was erected.

Klansmen began gathering around 8 o'clock and by 11 o'clock the converging roads were lined with autos from a dozen states, some bearing Florida license tags.

Special Klan guards, neither masked or armed, maintained order. The ceremonies began after midnight and continued until nearly 4 o'clock.

Here It Is, Men! First Straw Hat Makes Its Debut

Spring must be here. Its approach was heralded weeks ago by the advent of robins. Later the calendar registered the first day of spring. Then backyard gardening came into its own, usually a sure sign that the longed-for weather had arrived.

But the latest and most positive sign that the season was officially here was discovered Thursday morning when the first straw hat of the year made its appearance on Main st.

The wearer was an out of town salesman.

The appearance of the "lid" created plenty of comment. Now that the ice has been broken more may be expected. The official straw hat season does not open until May 15.

Pupil Is Given Perfect Grade For Paper On Schubert

This work is given in addition to the regular study of music in the schools and some interesting papers have been prepared by various students on the lives of these composers.

One of these is the work of Anna Ruth Miller, a pupil in the seventh grade, on the life of Franz Schubert, composer of the famous "Serenade in D Minor."

This paper, which was given a grade of 100 per cent, follows:

"Franz Schubert was a famous Austrian composer. He was born near Vienna, Jan. 31, 1797 and commenced his musical education in his 16th year. At home Schubert's brothers, Ignaz and Ferdinand played first

Bootleggers Using Smoke Screens To Conceal Activities

Washington, May 3.—Smoke screens, similar to those employed to conceal naval maneuvers, are the latest thing in bootlegging circles.

Whisky pirates, plying the Washington-Baltimore pike, are using the screens to hide their operations, Edgar N. Read, chief prohibition officer, said today. They escaped from an enforcement officer by throwing a 50-yard screen down the pike and later they used it to screen their escape after holding up a bootlegger on the road.

The screen apparatus consists of a five gallon can of oil, attached to the exhaust of an automobile. Then the oil reaches the hot exhaust pipe it is vaporized into dense clouds of black smoke.

FRENCH REJECT GERMAN OFFER

London Believes United States Will Be Called Upon To Play Important Part In Final Settlement Of The Ruhr And Reparations Problems.

Washington, May 3.—There is nothing in Germany's new reparations offer that calls for any change in the American policy of "friendly aloofness" toward the whole Franco-German controversy, it was stated in official quarters here today after examination of Berlin's latest peace move.

Paris, May 3.—The French cabinet unanimously decided today that the German reparations' proposals, offering 30,000,000,000 gold marks, is not acceptable to France. Such action had been anticipated. A similar decision is expected by Belgium.

London, May 3.—An impression gained here today that the United States is going to be called upon to play an important part in the final settlement of the Ruhr and reparations problems. There is a prevalent feeling that the Ruhr issue eventually will be settled through the appointment of an international commission to determine the amount Germany can and must pay. This solution was proposed by Secretary of State Hughes.

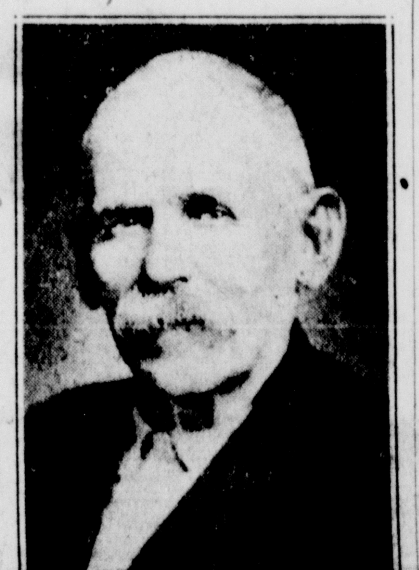

George Harvey, American ambassador to England, who sailed for home today on the liner George Washington, made it plain that he expects Secretary Hughes' proposal to be the eventual basis of settlement. Harvey set at rest reports he would remain in the United States by saying he will return to London.

It is learned from a semi-official source that British officials are hopeful the German offer may prove the forerunner of another. It is felt that the latest German note has not advanced the reparations problems any further towards an immediate settlement.

British officials say the document was clumsily written and aroused needless French and Belgian irritation.

It is possible that there will be an exchange of views among the allies before the end of the week, while Anglo-American is expected in favor of acceptance of Secretary Hughes' plan. There are intimations that informal conversations have taken place on this subject.

FIVE DEAD, THIRTY HURT AS COLORADO TRAIN IS WRECKED

Other Passengers. May Be Buried Under Wreckage
It Is Feared.

Grand Junction, Colo., May 3.—Five persons are dead today and more than 30 injured, while it is feared others may be buried under the wreckage of Denver and Rio Grande Western train No. 2, eastbound from San Francisco to Denver, following a derailment near Woodside, Utah, 130 miles west of this city, late last night.

The flyer is believed to have hit an open switch, resulting in the two engines, two baggage cars, the smoker and chair car leaving the tracks and crashing into a ditch.

The dead include unidentified passengers and three members of the train crew.

Only meager details of the wreck had reached this city early today. A relief train was hurriedly made up here and several nurses and doctors rushed to the scene of the accident an isolated town with few facilities for caring for the injured.

Engineer Fred R. Rader, of the second engine was reported instantly killed. Fireman Albert Anderson also was killed. A woman identified as a Mrs. Morris of Moab, Utah, was found dead in the wreckage.

Reports here said eight cars of the 12-car train left the track.

AIRMEN SPEEDING ACROSS ARIZONA

Transcontinental Flying Machine Nearing Its Western Goal.

Wickenburg, Ariz., May 3.—The T-2 transcontinental flying machine passed over this city at 10:20 Mountain time today, going due west. The plane was flying high.

Tucson, N. M., May 3.—The giant monoplane T-2, carrying Lieuts. Macready and Kelly in their efforts to accomplish a non-stop coast-to-coast flight, passed over Tucson about 7:50 a. m. Mountain Standard time today, employees of the Rock Island railway reported.

Kansas City, Mo., May 3.—The powerful monoplane T-2, in which Lieuts. John A. Macready and Oakley G. Kelly are attempting a non-stop flight from New York to San Diego, Cal., is winging its way in a west by south-west direction.

Traveling at high speed a monoplane passed over the Missouri river, a few miles south of Atchison, Kas., at 11:05 o'clock last night, and observers were sure it was the T-2. Earlier in the evening the T-2 had been sighted at St. Louis.

The route which the airmen had mapped out for themselves would take them over Woodward, Okla., Tucuman, N. M., St. John's, Ariz., across the Rockies to Phoenix. From there they would go in an airline to San Diego.

The flyers left Roosevelt Field, N. Y., at 1:37 o'clock yesterday afternoon. At their present rate of speed they don't meet with a mishap, they will reach San Diego this afternoon.

A Thorough Cleaning

THE year is at the spring, and the world and his wife are housecleaning. The old bus needs a new coat of paint. The back yard needs raking over. The attic is full of junk, and the cellar is cluttered with the discarded of a hard winter. The whole house needs cleaning.

The man of the house is in for a few weeks of terrible carnage, during which time he will sneak in the back door, eat in the kitchen, sleep in a different bed, and growl because nothing is in its place. But he likes it just the same, and knows that it is as natural for the birds to nest at this time of year as it is for the good wife to clean house.

Will we think to walk through the corridors and rooms of the spiritual building and clean that up? Why not match the physical transformation with the rejuvenation of the spirit?

Get rid of jealousy, that acid which eats the heart out of many a home and the happiness from many a life. Clean out that foul cubbyhole of gossip.

Dig down into the cellar of the mind where all sorts of fears and fables lurk to madden you. It is dangerous to harbor in the unconscious mind the breeding place of misery. Remove the mould from ancient grudges, and learn to let bygones be bygones. The man who says he will forgive but cannot forget, is not doing a thorough job of house cleaning.

Soothing Sirup

IT is interesting to note that missionaries on behalf of the league of nations, who come to us from abroad, are all trying to soo us into the league. The league is not going to force or discipline any one. It is merely going to create an atmosphere of friendliness. Our attention is called to the fact that under the covenant the objection of one member of the council is sufficient to prevent action of any kind. That is the liberum veto which helped to destroy Poland in the days when one selfish or foolish noble could obstruct any measure proposed by the diet.

The utility of the league in recent crises is easily explained. If a question is important to the great powers, it can't be touched by the league. Only questions that do not imperil world peace, questions such as have been settled by the ordinary processes of diplomacy, go to the league.

These missionaries are telling us that it is safe for us to go into the league, because nothing can be done to which any member objects, yet they also assert it is essential to world peace that we should join. How can we prevent war in the league when any member intent upon a warlike or war-threatening enterprise can veto action by the league?

Either the league will work or it won't work. If it won't work, as it doesn't, why go into it? If it will work, it will work under the influences of European forces, the nature of which we needn't guess at. It is illustrated in the Europe of today.

20 YEARS AGO

BREAKFASTS, BIG AND LITTLE

Really Makes Little Difference, Provided Requisite Amount of Exercise Is Taken.

Hearty breakfasts are recommended after being frowned on by many dietitians for long. Appetite, like conscience, was whispering the truth all the time. And those who "basely yielded and distended their rosy morning cheeks with wads of sirup-dripping buckwheat cakes and gobs of ham and eggs, went right on keeping those rosy cheeks; while the pale flowers of abstinence who niggardly and dolefully lifted to their sad mouths the breakfast provender irrigated with skim milk, grew no less pale if not more so.

One must interject distinctly here, that the robust and rosy, also made their muscular activity consume the heavy fuel their appetites demanded; for a generous breakfast should not be coddled by a whole day in an easy chair or even in a swivel one.

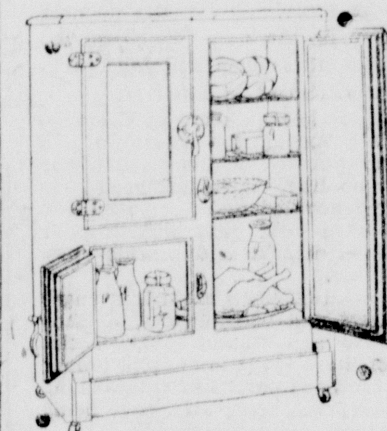

Eat what you like, but hike, hike, hike. "Shall I be carried to the skies on flowery beds of ease?" Precisely that is where one will be carried quite promptly by heavy meals and no exercise.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

WASTE OF TIME AND MONEY

Why One Young Chicago Matron Has Had Her Phone Taken From the Party Line.

The inconvenience of a party line telephone was amusingly illustrated in the home of a young couple in the suburbs not long ago, relates the Chicago Journal.

The telephone instrument for some reason was located in a large closet. A hard shower came up suddenly while the six-year-old son was at kindergarten, and as it was near closing time and Bobby was all unprepared for rain his mother went to the telephone to order a taxi to call for him. Much to her annoyance, when she took down the receiver she heard unmistakable indications of a lengthy conversation: "Take a cup of sugar, two eggs . . ." but rather than lose her opportunity of putting in her call as soon as the conversation ceased she remained in the closet. Impatiently she waited, taking down the receiver at short intervals, only to hear: "Then bake in a slow oven . . ." and "No, this recipe never fails. I always use it . . ." but was finally rewarded by hearing the final "Goodbye, call me up again when we can have time for a long visit." After at last giving her order to the taxi man she emerged from the closet hot and cross, only to find that the sun was shining brightly. Ten minutes later up drove Bobby in state, all smiles and enthusiasm at his unexpected treat. That was the last straw. The telephone still remains in the closet, but the party line is no more.

POOR REWARD FOR BRAVERY

Evidently the Police in Some Parts of France Have Queer Notions and Are Not Strong on Common Sense.

Passengers on the Bordeaux-Cette express in France were saved from a kidnapping by a masked bandit owing to the pluck of a railroad man who happened to be traveling on the train. Following sleep he waited until the bandit was leaning over him. Then suddenly he pulled a revolver and covered the outlaw, who was then disarmed and arrested by the passengers. The latter were surprised to learn next day that this smart act is being rewarded by a fine of one franc and the confiscation of the revolver—the local police authorities having found nothing better to do than prosecuting for the possession of firearms without a license. To this must be added a sum of about fifty francs for the legal costs of the case.

It seems that the local police who would not have caught the bandit in a score of years, have few cases in which they can prosecute and are glad to jump at every opportunity to show their stal.

Women Won't Eat Standing.

Women are making a howl about standing, and they are doing right well in their efforts to be men," remarked the old grouch, "but they are making full advantage of their opportunities. They are smoking cigarettes and rolling their own, they have their shoes shined in regular shine places, they run their own automobiles—those who have 'em—they wear wrist watches and they carry fountain pens that won't write. But they are overlooking the right to eat vertically. They refuse to stand up while they inhale their soup and imbibe their pastry. Go into these restaurants that have stand-up tables and look for a woman tackling her food in a vertical position. She just isn't. She never will be entirely emancipated until she can eat and run without getting up."

A Faithful Sexton.

"It may be questioned," says a southern man, "if important personages derive as much satisfaction from their greatness as do some lesser holders of authority that magnify their office. In my town there is an amusing old colored sexton, a most efficient one, too, who is a very odd character."

"About a month after the coming of a new minister to his church he was met in the street by an old parishioner who asked:

"Well, Moses, how is the new minister going to do?"

"Oh," said Moses, "we is gittin' him into shape by degrees."

Would Sacrifice Tooth for Dime.

Carroll had a tooth pulled and through some miraculous agency known only to mothers and fathers that tooth placed under his pillow at night and turned into a silver dime. A few days later Carroll presented himself at his father's office and demanded that another tooth be pulled. Upon father's refusal Carroll grew insistent and finally between acts of grief he explained:

"Walter hasn't any kite, and kites cost 10 cents at the book store, and I wanted you to pull my tooth so I could put it under my pillow tonight, and then in the morning I would have a dime and could buy Walter a kite."

Unanimous.

In one of the towns of the Pacific coast a distinct earthquake shock was felt recently, and when the municipal building rocked perceptibly the city fathers, then in session, left without bothering about the usual formulas.

The clerk, a man of rules and regulations, was hard put to it to give his minutes the proper official tone. Finally he evolved this masterpiece:

"On motion of the city hall, the council adjourned."—The American Legion Weekly.

"Beavers" Are Popular In London

London's favorite pastime now is to play "beaver," the idea being for two contestants to cry "Beaver!" every time they see a man with whiskers. The player who sees the most whiskered men in a day wins the wager. These two San Francisco men, who claim the world's "whiskers' championship," are original Forty-niners, and between them they have more than 28 feet of whiskers. The man at the left has a beard that measures 11 feet 3 inches, while that of the man at the right is 17 feet long.

PULLED COMRADE TO SAFETY

Amazing Act of Airedale Who Rescued His Playmate From Wheels of Speeding Train.

The Airedale who saved the life of his mate, a large setter, by snatching him off the railway tracks near Cincinnati only an instant before a B. & O. train whizzed over the spot, performed a very remarkable and heroic act. There can be no question about this, says Our Dumb Animals. There were at least two reliable witnesses of the rescue who reported the facts, which were substantially as follows:

Both dogs belonged to one owner. They had been inseparable companions. The setter was subject to fits, and when the locomotive gave its warning whistle he was suddenly stricken and dropped between the rails paralyzed. The Airedale was a smaller dog, but quick and wiry. All of his breed are fast workers. The Airedale grasped the situation instinctively, if you must have it so, but with every indication of rapid reasoning. His mental processes prompted him to act instantly and desperately. He achieved his purpose and dragged him over the rail, not a second too soon, and then down the declivity to a safe place; there to revive him from coma by licking him with his tongue. The account of this rescue at once stirred up the old controversy of instinct versus reason in the dog among psychologists and dog fanciers. It is our opinion that one need not be either of these to discern and determine intelligence and reason in the animal that has associated himself closest with man.

SOME WISDOM IN LAZINESS

Reserving a Little Time for Thought Is by No Means the Worst of Human Attributes.

Writing for a current magazine of "The Wisdom of Laziness," Fred C. Kelly says:

"Frank B. Gilbreth, the great industrial engineer and student of human motions, frequently makes moving pictures of expert workmen in various trades to determine how few different movements are needed in performing a piece of work."

"He finds that the best worker—that is, the one from whom others can learn the most, is invariably a lazy man, willing to work only just hard enough to hold his job. He is too lazy to waste a single motion that he can avoid."

"The more energetic man is far less efficient because he doesn't mind squandering his energy in unnecessary movements. At the end of the day he is fatigued out of all proportion to the work done."

"We often hear a man who makes a great commotion about his job spoken of approvingly as a hustler. But the average hustler never outgrows taking orders from some quiet fellow seated at a desk in the main office."

A radical reversion from the old gospel of the man who was "chain lightning" on his job. But now that Mr. Kelly reminds us, we did hear once on a time that chain lightning never strikes anything."

SUBMIT PENSION PLAN TO VOTERS

Columbus, May 2.—Plans for submitting an old age pension law to the voters for approval or rejection at the next November election were completed today by the Ohio State Federation of Labor and the Fraternal Order of Eagles by the filing of a petition with the secretary of state for approval as to form.

The proposed law was initiated last summer by these two organizations and presented to the legislature for enactment, but the legislature took no action, permitting the measure to die in committee.

The proposed petition to be circulated is supplementary to the one first initiating the proposed law and will require 48,774 signatures. It took an equal number of signatures to the original petition to bring the measure before the legislature.

Secretary of State Brown approved the form of the supplementary petition and the work of obtaining signatures will be started within a short time.

Another German Prodigy.

Germany has another memory prodigy in a twenty-one-year-old girl, who has mastered the art of brain-control over muscle most completely. She sings a German song, writes an English sentence with her right hand, and a French sentence with her left hand at the same time. Also writes a sentence in one language backwards, and another in a different language in the regular way. She can calculate with one hand and write dictation backwards with the other. She can also begin a sentence at both ends and complete it in the middle, using both hands. She does several other things which really seem beyond the limit of credulity.—Scientific American.

WOMAN GIVEN

Team Work Succeeds

"In other realms aside from the home life, woman has demonstrated her ability to cope with any problem. Happy that home or enterprise in which such teamwork is enlisted. In the long, strong pull, the pull together principle will surely bring success first in character building; second, in the enterprise itself.

"The basis of unity and equality of man and woman is seen in the gift of Eve to Adam, to be not merely a companion and helper, but his equal. Man lost sight of this and only does he realize this as the teachings of the gospel reaches his life. In our own country as in no other, is this sacred principle and right most truly secured. Womanhood, wifehood, sisterhood, motherhood are more highly honored in America than in any other land in the world; yet there still is room for improvement.

"The establishment of high ideals in the life of our girls and young women is the duty and responsibility of the home, school and church. So must woman measure up to the standards of womanhood and in her sphere make possible that unity which is of divine origin and pronouncement.

Eve The Tempted

"Eve was a not necessary weaker because Satan came to her with the suggestion of disobedience. Possibly Satan felt more sure of getting the man through woman's persuasion. Surely she has been tearfully used in this direction. Eve's ambition, inquisitiveness and desire to know was taken advantage of, then her influence over her husband prevailed and the fatal step taken. It was Satan's greatest achievement, a sad misuse of woman's persuasive powers.

"The duties, honor and responsibilities of true companionship and helpfulness are so soon forgotten in the lust of pride, unworthy ambition and selfishness. To win, to hold, to help, to inspire is the province of true womanhood. As she believes God, resists the tempter and strives to be true to her God-given relationship will woman fulfill her mission and help to save humanity from the sin of our first mother.

"At the door of motherhood lies the responsibility of her daughter's waywardness. The bringing forth of children is a small item as compared to the training of those lives. That the inner life is vitally involved is unquestioned. As we lift up, and Christianize the ideals of motherhood we make a vital and necessary contribution to the entire well being of humanity.

"These ideals and their fullest realization are assured us in the gospel of the Son of God who was born into this world through woman, thus sanctifying this wondrous gift and grace of motherhood."

FATHER MANNING

academics and colleges to keep their students in ignorance and superstition.

What is Miss Ayres' idea of missionary work? Is her idea to rob the Catholic monasteries of their valuable libraries, to pillage the Catholic churches of their gold and silver utensils, to snatch the garbs of the religious teachers, to commit all sorts of inhuman outrages on these defenseless women who have devoted their lives to the instruction of the young, to confiscate the Catholic churches and institutions and to banish the priests from the country of Mexico? It would almost look like that is the destructive kind of missionary work Miss Ayres advocates.

It is evident that real constructive missionary work builds, and does not destroy. And real Catholic missionary work has been done in Mexico long before Miss Ayres went there, centuries in fact, and will continue to be done long after she leaves, centuries in fact, in spite of robberies, and pillaging, and confiscations and banishing of Catholic missionaries, that have taken place in Mexico recently.

The true idea of missionary work is to teach the gospel of Christ to those who are ignorant of it. Miss Ayres' idea of missionary work evidently is to criticize, to proselytize.

The Mexican people have not been kept in ignorance by the Roman Catholic church. Neither have they been made a superstitious people by this church. Honoring Mary as the mother of Christ is far from superstition. It is a historical fact that the nation that honors Mary, has a greater faith in the divinity of Christ, while the nation that denies honor to her, denies the divinity of Christ.

Miss Ayres must never mistake the ostentatious and perhaps sentimental honor that is paid the Virgin in these Latin countries for superstition, and she is absolutely wrong when she says that they pay tribute to Mary to the exclusion of Christ. Who is there in the world today that would not be very proud if a great number of people idolized and praised their mother?

It is evident that the "President and high officials favor" everything that is not Roman Catholic. The laws of reform passed some sixty years ago prove that. As a result persecution and spoliation of the Catholic church has continued ever since.

The electric dog that will follow a lantern in the dark—the mechanical curio constructed by John Hays Hammond, Jr.—has a rival in French electric dog that will jump out of its kennel when a whistle sounds.

The Hammond dog is controlled by selenium cells. The amount of electricity that will pass through selenium varies with the amount of light shining on the metal. With a selenium cell for each eye of the dog and a small electric gear inside the toy the dog will steer its course so as to have an equal amount of light on each eye, which means that it will keep its head toward any light. ## TOOK TURNS BEING SERPENT

Boys Had Alternated in Character That Had Most Desirable Part in the Entertainment.

Mrs. Gaites had the barrel of russet apples placed in the attic because they were not quite ripe enough to eat, and she warned her three boys, whose ages range from five to eleven years, not to touch them.

Then one rainy day, when she sought the attic to get something from a trunk, she came full upon her sons, surrounded by apple cores. At her approach two of the boys drew closer together; but the third, a little distance off, who lay on his stomach, contentedly munching an apple, apparently paid no attention to his mother's entrance.

"John! Henry! William!" she exclaimed, reproachfully. "Didn't I tell you not to touch them?"

"Yes, mother," replied John, the eldest, "but we're not really eating them. We're acting the Garden of Eden. Willie and I are Adam and Eve, and Henry, over there, is the serpent, trying to lead us to our downfall by showing us how good the apples are."

"But," began the mother, as sternly as she was able, "you two must have been eating apples; Henry hasn't done it all. I see as many as ten cores around you."

"Oh, yeth," returned Willie, the youngest, "we've all been taking turns being the serpent."—Exchange.

CAN BE CARRIED TOO FAR

Indianapolis Men Satisfied That There Should Be a Limit Placed on Publicity.

A wife, a husband, a lawyer and a young man who had something to do with a publicity stunt have kept a telephone line leading into an Indianapolis theater busy in the last twenty-four hours. Questions put with more than ordinary vigor from a telephone receiver in the northern part of Indianapolis were met at the other end of the telephone with many and diverse explanations, and without appealing the aroused persons until finally the attorney arrived personally on the scene.

The cause of the commotion started when the wife read a note, written in feminine hand, dated Chicago, which began, "My Dear" and ended, "With love, Mary." The note told of a photograph "Mary" had seen in Chicago. It urged her friend "My Dear" not to fail to see it, as she had been told it was on view in Indianapolis this week. The wife could not believe it was a publicity stunt. The husband failed in convincing her that "Mary" was not someone whom he had met in Chicago, and the lawyer was pressed into service. Eventually he carried a report back to the wife that convinced her that it was only publicity. The young man at the theater end of the stunt is of the opinion that publicity may be too real.—Indianapolis News.

Don't be Fooled by a Varnish Shine

The poorer the varnish, generally the more it shines, and the less it wears. The better the varnish, the richer is its deep satin like glossiness, and the longer it wears. Don't buy a varnish by its shine. Buy it by its power to stand wear and still keep glossy. For everything from floors up, use Neptunite Varnishes. You get wear out of them because wear is put into them. Won't turn white. Dry hard and stay hard.

CANADA'S IDLE WATER POWER

Estimated That 84 Per Cent of Available Potency Has Yet to Be Harnessed.

Canada's waterfalls developed 3,000,000 horse-power of electrical energy during 1922. The revenue to manufacturers from this power amounted to $81,000,000, according to a report issued by the federal water powers branch of the Dominion government.

Ontario, with Niagara Falls as its chief source of power, led in production among the provinces with 1,330,000 horse-power, the report shows. Quebec followed closely with 1,100,000 horse-power, and British Columbia was third with 310,000. The remainder was distributed among Manitoba, Alberta, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island.

Despite the high cost of construction, hydro-power development installed last year totaled 529,000 horse-power. Total capital invested in water power is estimated at $620,658,731. Horse-power development amounts to 357 per 1,000 of Canada's population.

"Demand upon industrial centers for greater production is increasing with the cultivation of new stretches of farm land in the West," the report states. "Industrial experts are urging rapid installation of hydro-power plants with a view to providing machinery and other farm supplies at a lower cost, and thus stimulate the greater settlement of lands."

Water power now in use represents a little over 6 per cent of Canada's total water power resources, which are estimated by the report at 41,700,000 horse-power.

JUDGE'S IDEA OF JUSTICE

Explanation of Why Mercy Was Shown to Defaulting Banker and Severity to Chicken Thief.

Judge Swartz' resignation after 36 years on the bench in Montgomery county reminds me of a letter which I once received from him, "Girard" writes in the Philadelphia Inquirer.

He had sentenced a man to several years in prison for stealing chickens. The value of the booty was only a few dollars.

It happened on the same day that another judge in a central Pennsylvania county had sentenced a bank president to one year in prison.

The banker had misappropriated over $100,000, and for a period of many years he had falsified the accounts of the bank as returned to the comptroller of the currency. These two items were printed together in a Philadelphia newspaper as showing the difference in judicial severity.

The letter I got from Judge Swartz said it appeared on the face of it as if he had punished his man too hard, but the fact was the chicken thief was an old offender, to whom a term in prison meant no mental stress.

The bank president, argued Judge Swartz, would be punished the more severely by his brief term in jail, due to his higher standards of life.

Tree Planting in Massachusetts.

Massachusetts will have the biggest tree planting bee in its history this spring when 2,000,000 pines and spruces are set out by cities, towns and private citizens on waste land. Most of the young trees will be sold at nominal cost by the state.

"There has been a decided awakening in Massachusetts to the need of forest conservation," said Chief Forester H. O. Cook recently. "In the state nurseries, in which we raise pines and spruces, we have 1,500,000 trees of the best age for transplanting. There is such an increased interest in this subject that we expect to produce transplantable trees in our nurseries at a rate in excess of 4,000,000 annually."

The lowest estimated cost of the forest plantings is two cents for each little tree. The entire cost probably will exceed $40,000. In 50 years the trees should be worth $200,000.

Plant Pine and Spruce.

Pittsfield will plant 75,000 trees this year, mainly spruce, in the campaign for forest conservation started by foresters of New England at a meeting in Boston this winter. Other community forest plantings will be made in various parts of the state.

In general the trees to be set out in the western counties are spruce. In the eastern counties the plantings will be of white pine. As a means of combating the serious ravages of white pine blister rust, the state is offering the immune Scotch pines to be mingled in the new forest areas.

Fighting Mexican Bean Beetle.

A promising parasite has been found for the control of the Mexican bean beetle, which is rapidly spreading in the southern states. This parasite preys upon at least two species of the genus to which the bean beetle belongs. Also there has been found in Mexico two varieties of beans which show promise of resistance to the injurious attack of the bean beetle. One is a native white bean and the other a wild brown bean, the latter growing very abundantly along a stream in southern Mexico.

Valuable Anesthetic.

Butyn, a new drug, is a substitute for cocaine in dental and eye work and, also in minor surgery. It is a synthetic product and it is said the anesthetic produced is more profound and prolonged than that produced by cocaine. It is not a derivative of cocaine and has no attractions for the drug taker.

RHEUMATISM LEAVES YOU FOREVER

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts To Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours

Every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer in this vicinity that if a full pint bottle of ALLENRHU, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not stop all agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenrhu has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished even in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiful and where the patient was helpless.

Allenrhu relieves at once. Immediately after you start to take it the good work begins. It searches out the uric acid deposits, dissolves the secretions and drives rheumatic poison out of the body through the kidneys and bowels.

Mr. James H. Allen, the discoverer of ALLENRHU, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless ALLENRHU decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee it as above in every instance.

Revival of the Bicycle.

There is a marked revival of cycling in England, and the cheapest known form of transport, which has never really waned in popularity, is finding additional support by reason of recent utterances by famous medicals. These gentlemen declare that the pursuit of cycling is healthier than any other; that muscular effort and regular breathing, which are the double-barreled steeds of cycling, are more conducive to health than the remedial physio of the medical profession. The Olympia show reveals a magnificent range of British pedal cycles.—British Commercial News.

Fresh Air Cures Colds.
If you have a stuffy head cold, lie down in a room with windows open—covers enough to keep you warm—and consciously breathe deeply for ten to fifteen minutes. Try to fill your lungs from the bottom up, as it were—then force the air all out, and start again. You will find the stuffy feeling vastly relieved. Headaches, that "tired feeling," indigestion, melancholia, constipation, and countless other disorders, may be benefited or entirely relieved—if you will but make a real effort to help yourself!

Without sufficient oxygen we stagnate and become swamped in our own waste products. If you would be well and alert and capable of doing your best day after day—learn to clean your own blood stream by the daily use of air—it's free, too! Just try it.—C. Richmond, D. O., in the Health Bulletin.

Doing the Impossible.
The mothers looked upon Alexander and saw that he was good. He had money, power and position, so they added their love of bygone days to the almost complete knowledge of their debaucherous daughters and the campaign was launched.

Athletic girls, domestic girls, beautiful women, soul affinities and working girls tried their wiles, but he was invulnerable.

Then he went to the town where he was born to eat his Thanksgiving dinner with his old-fashioned mother. The teacher of the village school boarded with his mother, partly to keep her company. The little teacher did not know Alexander could not be caught.

No they were married on Christmas Eve.—Judge.

Naturally Affected Her.
The magnate came home grinning and sat down in a cheerful frame of mind to carve a large roast.

"My private secretary," he announced, "told me today that he is engaged to be married. On his salary the girl will starve."

At this the daughter of the house burst into tears, whereat dad was considerably taken aback.

"Why, what's the matter, daughter?" he inquired solicitously.

"It's me he is engaged to—o," sobbed the girl.

Moving.

"The editor of the Tumblerville Torch of Liberty gives his brother-in-law, the Hon. Pete Paterfish, a nice funeral notice, don't he?" asked a neighbor.

"Eh-yah!" replied Gabe Gossnell of Grudge. "He writes down high as pitiful about him as if he had been a good dog."—Kansas City Star.

RUTHENBERG WILL HEAR FATE JUNE 4

Ohio Syndicalist Is Found Guilty Of Advocating Government's Fall.

St. Joseph, Mich., May 3.—Charles E. Ruthenberg, Cleveland syndicalist, who was convicted of having violated the Michigan anti-syndicalism laws after a jury had deliberated nearly four hours, will be sentenced June 4. It was stated today the sentence may be imprisonment up to a term of ten years, a $5,000 fine or both. Ruthenberg, according to reports from jurors, was convicted on the fourth ballot, three jurymen agreeing that the laws had been violated by the Bridgeman convention last summer, but announcing themselves not satisfied that Ruthenberg had advocated overthrow of the government. An argument of an hour's duration by other members of the jury, it was said, convinced them. The jury was congratulated as "all American" by the prosecutors. Ruthenberg probably will appeal.

PUPILS GIVEN

most as famous. "The Wanderer," Josef Spaur, chancing to call upon Schubert one afternoon found him working excitedly over Goethe's poem and that same evening Franz appeared in class with the finished song. Five years elapsed before this immortal song was heard in public though it previously had been sung quite frequently in private. "In 1823 Schubert finished the opera 'Alfano und Estrella.' The libretto is by Schober and it is said that Schubert set Schober's lines to music as fast as the librettist wrote them. "During the few remaining years of his life Schubert composed several of his finest works, most notable among them being his great 'Symphony in C.' He presented the score to a company in Vienna in return for a purse of 100 florins. They placed the symphony in rehearsal but abandoned it as being too difficult. "Schubert died of typhoid, Nov. 19, 1828 and was buried near Beethoven's grave. Besides his 600 songs he left 400 other compositions including six masses, 15 operas and several symphonies. His symphonies are ranked by Mendelssohn and Schumann with Beethoven's. Liszt described him as the most poetic of musicians. His music was of the inspirational sort, many of his famous compositions being written in a reckless hurry, notably 'Hark, Hark the Lark' and the famous 'Serenade in D Minor.'

SUPREME COURT OBJECT OF ATTACK

PERSISTENT CAMPAIGN IS ON TO TAKE AWAY SOME OF ITS PRESENT POWER.

MAY BE A CAMPAIGN ISSUE

Proposal That Mere Majority Shall Not Be Permitted to Declare Acts of Congress Unconstitutional Is Supported by Many.

Washington.—A campaign is on which in effect will take away from the Supreme court of the United States some of its present power. There has been a proposal from one quarter actually to provide the necessary changes in the laws and Constitution which will give congress the power to set aside decisions of the court. Naturally enough the conservative thinkers declare this to be an almost revolutionary proposition.

Another proposal which has been made is that the Supreme court in deciding that any act of congress is unconstitutional must have something more than a bare majority vote. At present a five to four vote is all sufficient, and the plan is to make the minimum either a six to three vote or a seven to two vote. The court by a five to four decision has just nullified the District's minimum wage law.

There is opposition to any interference with the court's powers that exist today. If any change is made probably it will come only after a long campaign of discussion, and unquestionably heated debate in the two houses of congress.

G. Gould Lincoln, who has made a search of the Supreme court decisions in the past, finds that out of 39 cases involving the unconstitutionality of acts of congress the decision in 16 cases was unanimous, and in only six cases was the decision rendered by a mere majority of the court, five to four; and that in the remaining 17 cases there were two or three dissenting opinions.

May Be Campaign Issue.

It has been more than intimated in political circles in Washington that this plan to take away some of the power from the Supreme court will be injected as an issue into the presidential campaign of next year. Some of the more advanced thinkers, radicals the conservatives call them, are in favor of so fixing things that congress can override a decision of the Supreme court on constitutional matters, but the "middle thinkers" believe the best thing to do is simply to provide that a bare majority vote of the court shall not be decisive in constitutional questions. Some men regarded as fairly conservative are advocating the latter course.

It was 28 years ago that the Supreme court declared the original income tax law of congress to be unconstitutional. This decision was reached by five to four vote. In later years it became necessary to adopt a constitutional amendment to give the government the right to levy an income tax in order that such a law as the present one could be put on the statute books.

It always seems to have been maintained by a majority of the people that an income tax is an equitable tax hitting everybody alike except of course those whose incomes are very small. There was disappointment in high places when in 1895 the Supreme court declared such a tax unconstitutional.

Famous Decision "Leaked."

There is a story connected with the decision of the court 28 years ago which may not be uninteresting, for as a result of a happening the decisions reached by the court from that day to this have been guarded zealously until the time fixed for making them public.

It was in Grover Cleveland's second term that the income tax law was passed by congress. A case was brought to test its constitutionality. There was a long-drawn-out hearing, but finally the case was brought to a close and the nine Supreme court judges retired to consider the case and to make their findings. The decision was to be made public on a Monday morning. Three days before the time for the publication of the result of the court's deliberations a newspaper in a great western city published the court's finding verbatim.

The newspaper thereby scored in the words of newspaperdom a scoop, and it was one of the most remarkable scoops which any paper ever succeeded in gathering into itself. In the past it was supposed to have been impossible to secure any advance information concerning a court decision, but in this case some enterprising newspaper man got the thing ahead of all the others, and "got it right."

There was a great row about the thing. An investigation was ordered and was made, but from that day to this no one has been able to find out from whence came the leak. The man who secured the scoop in Washington, and the managing editor of his paper probably were the only two persons in the secret until the composers began setting their type in the composing room on the night when the decision was turned in as copy.

DISTRICT BUILDING AND LOAN MEETING

Conference Will Consider Plan To Meet Demand For Home Loans.

Building and loan men in this section will join with building and loan officials from Northeastern Ohio in a meeting to be held Wednesday, May 9, at Niles, at which time the problem of how to get sufficient funds in building and loan associations to meet the unprecedented demand for home loans will be the foremost question to be discussed.

Building and loan officials from Lake, Ashtabula, Trumbull, Portage, Summit, Mahoning, Stark and Columbiana counties will attend the meeting.

Officers of the Seventh District of the Ohio Building Association League include: E. M. Cooke, Akron, president, who will preside at the meeting, and A. E. White, East Liverpool, secretary.

Speakers at the Niles meeting, in addition to the officers, will include: James A. Devine, Columbus, secretary of the Ohio Building Association League; L. P. McCullough, Columbus, president of the league; Leonard E. Weitz, Cleveland; Don L. Tobin, Columbus, advertising manager of the Ohio Building Association League, and others.

Advance reports made by building and loan men in this section indicate that greater gains will be made in deposits this year than in any year in history, if the present rate of gain is maintained. Building and loan men attribute the flow of money into their institutions to the fact that thousands of dollars of War Savings Stamps were turned over to them, as well as much money from the last December redemption of Victory bonds.

The building and loan men also are expecting to receive thousands of dollars from the May redemption of Victory notes.

LOAN ASSOCIATION IS 56 YEARS OLD

Ohio's First Savings And Loan Was Organized In Cleveland.

The last week in March was the anniversary of the founding of the first savings and loan in Ohio. From this single institution have sprung over 900 such institutions in Ohio with over $80,000,000 assets.

Following the organization of the first building and loan company in Cleveland in 1867, other companies soon were organized in Dayton and Cincinnati. By 1879 there were 47 such associations in Ohio; in 1880 there were 56; in 1890, 75; in 1900, 268, and in 1910, 642. For many years these institutions were maintained in the rear of grocery stores, barber shops, or in conjunction with some other business, the members meeting once a week to pay their dues and to withdraw money. Now most of them occupy banking rooms in business sections, in many cases owning their own buildings. Quarters now occupied by the building and loan associations in Ohio are valued at more than $50,000,000.

HOUSE BUILDING IS HAMPERED BY FUND SHORTAGE

Loan Companies Face Need Of Money To Build 170,000 Homes.

Cleveland, May 3.—John E. McCrehen of Columbus, president of the Ohio Association of Real Estate boards, and a committee from the Cleveland Real Estate board were in conference in Cleveland Monday with officials of building and loan associations, savings banks and financial institutions to devise plans to get funds into institutions loaning money to home owners in order that the building boom now under way in Ohio, the greatest in history, may not be seriously curtailed through the inability of these institutions to meet the demand on the part of home buyers and builders for loans.

At the conference, it was brought out that despite the fact that building and loan associations began this year with a surplus of $20,000,000 on hand for home loans, this sum has been wiped out by the extraordinary demands during the first four months of the year and that these institutions now are daily turning down hundreds of demands for home loans.

Must Procure Funds

Inasmuch as building and loan associations finance practically 75 per cent of the home building in Ohio, officials of both the Ohio Association of Real Estate boards and the Ohio Building Association league agreed that unless additional funds were at once brought into home financing institutions, hundreds of prospective home builders and buyers would be unable to attain their desires this summer.

It was agreed at the conference that members of the Ohio Association of Real Estate boards should assist in getting as much as possible for the money to be returned to Ohioans in May by the government in redeeming the 1923 Victory notes into house building channels.

170,000 Houses Short

Figures divulged at the conference showed that there was a shortage of 170,000 homes in Ohio at the beginning of 1923 and that 50,000 new homes were built last year, leaving a shortage of 120,000 homes at the beginning of 1923. According to officials of both associations in the Columbus conference, 20,000 homes are now under course of construction in Ohio and at least 40,000 more homes will be started during the year if sufficient funds are available.

If the 60,000 homes are built this year, as estimated, Ohioans will still face a housing shortage of 60,000 homes, which building and loan men and real estate dealers hope to overcome during 1924. Building and loan associations now have more than a half billion of dollars loaned to home buyers and builders in Ohio, according to James A. Devine, secretary of the Ohio Building Association league.

World and the Woman

By JUSTIN WENTWOOD

(Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union)

Hale stood upon the highest point of his property, surveying life.

The highest point was just six feet above the level of the sea. The lowest point was about six feet below. But the palm trees were so scattered and the mangrove so dwarfed that Hale could see clear to the encircling waters.

Over them a boat was coming. Hale swore.

He did not want company. He would warn off the intruders. He hurried down to his strip of silver beach and assumed an angry look.

In reality Hale could not look very angry. It is impossible to look angry at twenty-nine, when you are the owner of an island kingdom.

As the boat drew near Hale saw that it was pulled by a single occupant, a girl, with copper-colored hair and white arms. She did not see Hale until the boat grounded. Then she sprang ashore and gasped:

"Goodness, I didn't know anybody lived on Shell Key!"

"I am the owner of Shell Key," said Hale grimly.

"I'm sorry I trespassed. You see, I—I wanted a place to be alone."

Hale softened. "Won't you come up to my cabin and have a cup of tea?" he asked. "That is, if you don't mind condensed milk."

She laughed. She had pretty gray eyes and a delightful smile, though she looked a little sad, Hale thought. She sat down on the camp stool, and soon the tea was ready.

"You see," she explained, "I was a school-teacher, but my throat got bad, and the doctors were afraid of tuberculosis. So they sent me down to Florida. And it isn't tuberculosis at all, and I'm getting better, but you see there's the cough, and the boarding-houses are afraid of coughs down here, so—so none of them would take me. It's so hard to stop coughing."

She coughed apologetically.

"So I had to come down to Palm Point and live in a cabin there, and—it's crowded all the time with tourists, and I just wanted to be alone. So I came over to Shell Key to look at it, meaning to camp out here for a week if—well, if there was no one here."

"And then go back to teaching?"

"And then go back to teaching," she answered sadly.

"I'm much like you," said Hale. "I was threatened with the same trouble, only I had just a hundred dollars left when my fare was paid. So I bought Shell Key—an acre and a half—for twenty dollars down, purchased fifty dollars' worth of food and implements and started—bought come, and I'll show you."

He led her to the highest peak of his domains. Through the palm trees the girl saw a clearing of a quarter of an acre, in which corn, tomatoes, and other esculents were flourishing. "I'm going to get a nanny when I sell my corn," said Hale.

"And you mean to live here always?"

"Rather than go back to clerking, yes. I'm going to make Shell Key the most highly intensified example of truck farming in the world. And I'm going to raid an orange plantation five miles down the coast on the next dark night, and bring back sucklings. They grow the best navel in the world there."

Slowly they went back. "You seem to have made a little island paradise here," said the girl.

"A kingdom—a world," he answered. "I wouldn't go back to the world outside for anything."

"And I," she said, "must go to take up my work in the world again. Each of us to his fate."

"Yes," he answered.

"Perhaps I'll row across to Palm Point some afternoon and call on you."

"I've only got one more week," she said. "And I'd rather you wouldn't."

"Why not?"

"It's—too sad, isn't it. I mean—he saw that her eyes were full of tears—"giving up one's dreams."

"We all have to give up our dreams, I suppose," he said.

"But you have your dream."

"Not all of it."

They were upon the beach now. She turned and looked at him. "What dream have you had to abandon?" she asked.

"Oh, every man's dream, I suppose," he answered.

"The dream of finding some one to share my kingdom with me. I've often thought of her. She has gray eyes and coppery hair."

"And you've abandoned that dream?"

"I've never found her." His look was unmistakable. And she could amuse herself no longer with him.

"I ought to have told you," she said penitently. "My husband's at Palm Point. He's an invalid, and—and we don't care for each other at all, but that—binds us, you know."

From the summit of his island kingdom Hale watched the boat receding.

Multiplication.

Josiah White died in 1806 at Rock-Ingham, Vt. At death he had 386 direct descendants. A check-up shows that at least 3,000 direct descendants of Josiah have entered the world up to the present time. This shows the wisdom of death in nature's scheme of things. Without death earth would become so thickly populated that its whole surface would be a closely packed crowd of standing-up humans. We have to die to make room for new-comers.

The Shoplifters' Decoy

By JOHN PALMER

(© 1922, Western Newspaper Union.)

"Say! See that woman!" whispered the little man with the dented derby, in the jewelry department of Hutchinson's, the big department store.

It was not the part where thousand-dollar rings and twenty-thousand-dollar necklaces are displayed in glass cases and watched over by lynx-eyed attendants, but there were a number of good gold bracelet watches and rings with real stones lying handily about.

The woman was walking slowly along the store. She was coming to the jewelry. She was passing the silks. Deftly she picked up a half-dozen fine silk handkerchiefs, fumbled with them sighted, and let them go.

Then, opening her fur coat, she displayed, just for a moment, an array of hooks and pockets inside, where neither hooks nor pockets ought to have been.

All the crowd was observing her. The store detective was already on the spot. And so eager was everybody to see something happen that they all pretended not to be looking at her.

At the end of the silks she whipped up six pairs of silk stockings, made as if to thrust them under her cloak, and then replaced them.

A whisper of excitement went up from the crowd. "A kleptomaniac!" muttered the little man with the dented derby. The store detective tried to look as inconspicuous as possible. The clerks at the jewelry counter were dreadfully alert.

"Funny, that impulse to take things," said the little man. "If she was a poor woman, now, it would go harder with her. She'll not be able to resist those watches, you take my word for it."

The woman in the fur cloak, quite unconscious of the interest that she was arousing, came to the jewelry counter.

"I want to see some rings," she said. "Yes, madam," answered the clerk, watching the store detective out of the tail of his eye. "About what price, madam?"

"Oh, seventy-five to a hundred dollars," answered the woman.

The clerk showed her some rings, the other clerk drew near; the store detective pretended to be a customer; the man in the dented derby put his hands in his pockets and whistled.

The tray of rings proved dubious. The woman picked up several, examined them.

"I don't think," she began. "The store detective stepped up. "Pardon me, madam, but I must ask you to step into the office."

"What do you mean? Who are you?" the woman flared up.

"I must respectfully ask you to submit to be searched, madam. There are two rings missing from that tray."

"Three," said the clerk with the tray.

"Quite so," said the store detective.

The woman strode six paces along the counter. The detective, bland and imperturbable, stopped her by standing immediately in front of her. All about them was a gaping crowd. The clerks leaned forward intently, watching her.

"Unless you are willing to submit to a search, madam, I must call the police."

The woman struggled. Her fur coat opened, disclosing the hooks and pockets. The pockets were filled with a miscellany of objects.

"For heaven's sake don't arrest me. I was a fool, I know. I was tempted so badly. What right have you to expose goods of such value and tempt people to steal?"

The detective led her away. In the room of the general manager a woman detective subjected her to a rigorous examination. She was puzzled.

"I haven't found the rings you spoke of," she said to the manager and the detective. "And these goods—well, they ain't ours."

"From some other store, I expect," said the detective.

"Well, what are you going to do about it now?" sneered the woman.

"Madam, please remember you have confessed."

"Say, are you going to let me go, or am I going to bring a charge of false imprisonment?"

There was nothing to say to that. They stood aside, and the woman swept to the elevator and passed down.

"I know her face; she's an old hand," said the detective, puzzled.

The manager of the jewelry department came running up. "They've got away with five thousand dollars' worth," he stammered. "Rings—watches—it was a plant. That woman didn't take a thing. It was the little man with the dented derby."

Right-handedness.

The average man today is right handed. Estimates differ regarding the prevalence of left-handedness. Probably not over five persons in a hundred are left-handed. Criminalologists fix the percentage among criminals as epileptics three to six times as great.

The incidents also were right-handed. In Judges 20:16, it is stated that out of 23,700 warriors only 700 were left-handed, a percentage of 2.92. A study of the records of cave men of the Stone Age shows them to have been right-handed in the proportion of 100 to 12. Left-handedness seemed to have been a disfigurement—a condition which was looked upon with the shaming of a child. When right-handedness came to the fore.

Huge Sum Spent on Love Nest.

Many thousands of dollars were spent during the last few weeks to make a beautiful love nest for Harold E. McCormick and his bride, Ganna Walska, before they returned to New York.

Mrs. Walska's mansion on East Ninety-fourth street has been decorated from top to bottom, each of the 43 rooms being entirely renovated, a beautiful Japanese garden has been built in the entrance hall, six van loads of costly furniture have been crammed in and the mansion has been given a new coat of battle-gray paint.

The whole lower floor of the mansion is a dazzling display of luxurious red and sea blue draperies and throughout the mansion are scattered beautiful and priceless gifts of the former husband's and admirers of her beauty and of her voice.

Sandy Soaks Fight Frost.

The truck farmer who selects soil in which there is a sandy component, is in less danger of damaging frosts than if he has loam or clay soil, according to the United States weather bureau. Moreover, if he keeps his land well drained of surplus moisture and free from weeds, he is less liable to the damaging effects of severe temperatures.

Experiments show there is a relation between the temperature of soil and the minimum temperature of the air, in that sandy soils store up much heat during the day and give this off at night, raising the temperature of the air above it.—Popular Science Monthly.

"Plastic Wood" Is New Product.

A new product, made by colloidal processes and just put on the English market, is announced by the Chemical Age. The interesting thing about this product is that it may be used to repair broken or worn wooden articles. A pattern is made of the article and the plastic wood is filled into the mold and allowed to set hard.

This takes but a few hours, and the product obtained is said to be extremely hard and possessed of all the characteristics of wood except that it will not absorb moisture as wood does. The hard plastic wood can be worked with the usual carpenter tools, and nails, screws, etc., can be driven into it without fear of splitting.

THIS LITTLE BABY GIRL

Was Benefited by the Good Her Mother Got from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Pittsburgh, Pa.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my little girl was born, and the effect it had was wonderful. This will be the first child I have nursed, as I had to bring my two boys up on the bottle. I was very nervous and worried, tired all the time, and after I read about the Vegetable Compound I tried it and kept on with it. I still continue its use and recommend it to my friends. You may publish these facts as a testimonial for your medicine."—Mrs. W. M. KLINE, 169 Plymouth St., Pittsburgh, Pa.

It is remarkable how many cases have been reported similar to this one. Many mothers are left in a weakened and run-down condition after the birth of the child, and for such mothers the care of the baby is well-nigh impossible. Not only is it hard for the mother, but the child itself will indirectly suffer.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent tonic for the mother at this time. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and does not contain any harmful drugs. It can be taken in safety by the nursing mother.

THINGS TO KNOW ABOUT OUR SERVICE

Take the Discount On Your Light Bills

Every few cents saved means that your electric light costs just that much less. When your bill comes in, mark down a date for payment at least two days before discount elapses. This is the safest plan. Something might happen to prevent your coming into the office on the last day, or the mail bearing your check might be delayed.

We allow ten days for taking the discount—ten days from date bill is mailed to you. Your bill should be received about the same time each month. Your meter is read about the same time each month.

If your bill is delayed, and you do not get the full ten days' discount period, it may be incorrectly addressed. Examine the bill and make sure we have your name and street number correct on our books.

On all matters pertaining to bills and discounts, you will receive prompt information by telephoning 48.

Parish Register Almost Certainly Proves That She Was Buried Under the Chancel of St. George's Church in Gravesend, England.

By EDWARD B. CLARK

Washington.—Washington occasionally turns from legislation and politics to something else. Interest has turned for a day or two at least from politics to Pocahontas. There is a movement to raise funds to determine the actual burying place of this daughter of Powhatan, and perhaps to bring her remains to this country, for she died in England and the preponderance of evidence goes to show that she was buried in the chancel of St. George's church, Gravesend.

Among the societies interested in the plan to make definite the information concerning the burial place of Princess Pocahontas is the English-Speaking Union. It is said that some of the descendants of the Indian girl who married an Englishman have contributed money to the general purpose which has been outlined, but it is also said that some of the most prominent American descendants have declined to "chip in."

Some years ago the society of Colonial Dames of America in the state of Virginia presented to St. George's church, Gravesend, a window in memory of Pocahontas with these words upon it: "Faith, Hope, Love, Constancy." Now, although for years the exact location of the Indian girl's grave was believed to be known, some doubt is being cast upon the matter. It, however, can be said it virtually is certain that the remains lie somewhere under the chancel of the Gravesend church.

Misspelled in Parish Register.
When the writer of this was in England recently he read a transcript of the entry in the St. George parish register which relates to the burial of Pocahontas. This entry is most puzzling, for, while almost unquestionably it refers to Pocahontas, there is a curious error in the name of her husband.

As everybody who has read of this Indian maiden knows, she was married to an Englishman named John Rolfe. The marriage was solemnized in April, 1613, just 310 years ago. Pocahontas went to England with her husband and there was received as a princess. The records have it that she became homesick for her native land, and with her husband she prepared to return on a ship which was to clear from Gravesend, which is a port of London. While traveling from London to the port, Pocahontas was taken ill. It is said, with smallpox. She died at Gravesend on the eve of the day she was to board the ship.

In the parish register of St. George's church is this entry:
"March 21, Rebecca Wrothe, Wyf of Thomas Wrothe, gent. A Virginian lady borne, here was buried in ye chancel."

It will be noticed that the name of Pocahontas' husband is given as Thomas Wrothe. Now Wrothe sounds something like Rolfe, and this mistake can be understood, but why the Christian name of her husband was given as Thomas instead of John is not so easily understood.

However, the rest of the record, giving as it does the baptismal name of Rebecca for Pocahontas, which is correct, and the further statement that she was a Virginia lady, establishes almost conclusively that the entry in the register refers to the Indian girl and that it is her remains that lie under the chancel.

Romantic but Untrue Story.

There still stands on Jamestown Island the tower of the old church in which Pocahontas was baptized. It was not far from this church that Captain John Smith gathered the settlers about him and told them the story of the saving of his life by the Indian princess, Pocahontas. Captain John had been in the kingdom of Powhatan to beg or borrow food for his hungry fellows. He had more tales than one to tell but the Pocahontas story was the day's prime recital.

Generally speaking, in order to carry the story to its romantic end, Captain John ought to have married Pocahontas, but things turn out that way as a rule only in fiction. There was a story, now discredited, that the Indian girl consented to marry John Rolfe only after she had been deceived into believing that John Smith was dead. Some of the traditionalists like to say that Pocahontas did not learn that her first love was still living until she reached London as the wife of another. They add that her death resulted not from smallpox but from a broken heart, which is all very pretty but which irrefutable records prove to be untrue.

Here is Captain John Smith's description of Pocahontas as he saw her the day he said she saved his life: "A child of tenne years old, which for features, countenance and proportion much exceeded any of the rest of Powhatan's people."

YANK'S SHORTSTOP SETS RECORD FOR BASEBALL GAMES

Everett Scott Is Honored
As He Engages In His Thousandth Game.

Washington, May 3.—A new "iron man" of baseball stepped into sportsdom's hall of fame Wednesday afternoon, at the Georgia ave. ball park, he engaged in his one thousandth consecutive big league ball game—almost three solid years of day-by-day play.

How extraordinary is his record may be judged from the fact that the previous record for consecutive big league play was held by Fred Ludeke of the Phillies and Cardinals. He played in only 551 games.

The United States navy, the American League, his own club and thousands of fans joined in paying tribute to "Scotty" in recognition of his long and faithful service.

Secretary of the Navy Denby presented the Hoosier a gold medal designed particularly for the occasion, on behalf of the American League, in whose service Scott has established his remarkable record. Ban Johnson, president of the league, was present, there were a marine band and speeches and other features.

Scott has established his record in the face of many difficulties. The war almost spoiled it, but he stuck to his club until the close of the season in 1918 and then lied away and joined the navy.

Last season in Chicago he stopped off at his home in northern Indiana for a few hours visit. He missed his train connections for Chicago, but he grabbed a taxi and the ball park in time. The taxi bill was $60.

This season he almost lost out again because of the bad condition of his legs at the start of the season, but he begged to be allowed to play and Miller Huggins consented.

Doctor's Recent Discovery. Also Heals Ulcers, Bolls, Carbuncles,
Abscesses and Open Sores in a Few Days

The world progresses. Today ailments that took weeks to cure can now be ended in a few days. If you have varicose veins or bunions you can start this today to bring them back to normal size, and if you are wise you will do so.

Just get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil at any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning to the enlarged veins. It is very powerful and penetrating, and only a little is required.

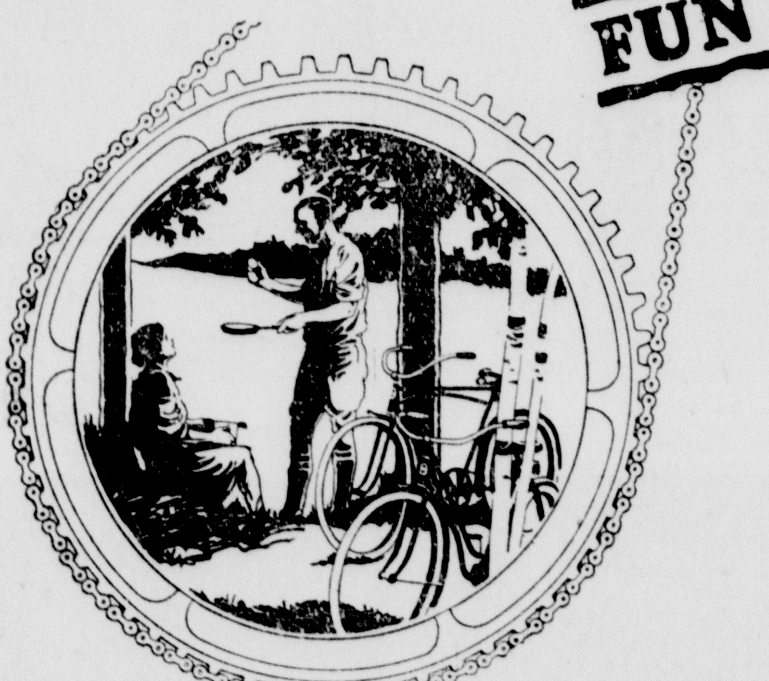

After a few days treatment the veins will begin to grow smaller and by regular use will soon reduce to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil besides being one of the most powerful of antiseptics capable of destroying the most pernicious germs and the poisons caused by them, is also a marvelous healing agent.

One application for instance stops the itching of eczema, and a few applications causes the eruptions to dry up, scale off and completely disappear. It is equally as effective in barber's itch, salt rheum, redness and inflammatory skin trouble.

People who want to reduce varicose veins, wens or goiter, or get rid of eczema, ulcers, boils abscesses or piles in a few days should not hesitate to get a bottle at once. It is so powerful that a small bottle lasts a long time. Any pharmacy can supply you.
